Professional Profile

The head of our technology practice, David joined Perkins & Company in 2004 and has worked on diversified tax and accounting issues since 1991.

David works with growth-oriented companies in a variety of industries, including manufacturing, technology and professional services. His experience includes domestic and state tax compliance, FAS 109 consulting and federal and multi-state tax consulting, including accounting method changes, equity and deferred compensation issues, and merger and acquisition issues.

Prior to joining our firm, David held management positions at the national accounting firms, KPMG and Ernst & Young, most recently as senior tax manager in KPMG's Portland office. He has also held the position of tax manager for CNL Financial Group, Inc., a Florida-based diversified real estate and finance company with more than 500 related entities.
